

March 25, 2010

Dear Principal of Flushing High School,

On behalf of Dr. and Mrs. Carson, it is our pleasure to congratulate your student, Jose Lopez, on qualifying for 2010 Carson Scholar Recognition. Jose was previously honored with a scholarship award, and is now receiving a commemorative pin, certificate, and letter from the Carson family celebrating exemplary academic achievements and community service. To honor your scholar's accomplishments, your school will receive a trophy, if you do not already have one. If you do have a Carson Scholars Fund trophy, you will receive a nameplate to add to your current trophy. Please look for your trophy or nameplate to be shipped in mid-May 2010.

Jose is among over 4,300 gifted students from across the country that have been named Carson Scholars. Their academic achievements and service to their communities are what makes them stand out as future leaders. We recognize that educators play an essential role in our scholars' success and we thank you for providing outstanding academic support and for the important role you play in our scholar's lives.

We encourage you to honor your student's achievement in a manner appropriate to your school. School recognition for Carson Scholars has included naming the student in morning announcements, recognizing the student during school awards assemblies, and holding celebrations in the classroom. We believe that it is important to recognize extraordinary academic achievement to motivate and inspire students to achieve their full potential.

We thank you in advance for honoring Jose at your school for meeting the qualifications necessary to achieve a 2010 Carson Scholar Recognition Package.

Warmest regards,

Caitlin Kosec
Scholarship Director
Carson Scholars Fund

March 25, 2010

Dear Principal of Flushing High School,

On behalf of Dr. and Mrs. Carson, it is our pleasure to congratulate your student, Jose Lopez, on qualifying for 2010 Carson Scholar Recognition. Jose was previously honored with a scholarship award, and is now receiving a commemorative pin, certificate, and letter from the Carson family celebrating exemplary academic achievements and community service. To honor your scholar's accomplishments, your school will receive a trophy, if you do not already have one. If you do have a Carson Scholars Fund trophy, you will receive a nameplate to add to your current trophy. Please look for your trophy or nameplate to be shipped in mid-May 2010.

Jose is among over 4,300 gifted students from across the country that have been named Carson Scholars. Their academic achievements and service to their communities are what makes them stand out as future leaders. We recognize that educators play an essential role in our scholars' success and we thank you for providing outstanding academic support and for the important role you play in our scholar's lives.

We encourage you to honor your student's achievement in a manner appropriate to your school. School recognition for Carson Scholars has included naming the student in morning announcements, recognizing the student during school awards assemblies, and holding celebrations in the classroom. We believe that it is important to recognize extraordinary academic achievement to motivate and inspire students to achieve their full potential.

We thank you in advance for honoring Jose at your school for meeting the qualifications necessary to achieve a 2010 Carson Scholar Recognition Package.

Warmest regards,

Caitlin Kosec
Scholarship Director
Carson Scholars Fund